Annexation into the city of London brings several positive benefits for residents. Here are some reasons to embrace being part of the city:

1. Affordable Utility Rates: By joining the city, you can enjoy cheaper water and sewer bills, even if you were previously receiving services from London Utility Commission (LUC). This can lead to significant savings and more manageable expenses. For those that don't have sewer, the plan with LUC is to get sewer to every location annexed in a timely manner.
2. Low Property Tax: The city property tax rate is only 0.00079 percent, which translates to a minimal tax burden. For example, a $200,000 home would only incur an annual tax of $156.
3. Full-time and Reliable Fire Protection: The city provides fire protection services through a certified ISO-rated department. This ensures that your property and community are safeguarded by a professional and well-equipped team, enhancing safety and peace of mind. The city of London has 24-hour full-time staff on at our fire department!
4. Accredited Police Department: Annexation brings the advantage of police protection by an accredited police department. The presence of additional units only contributes to maintaining a secure environment and upholding public safety.
5. Voting Rights and Voice: Being within the city limits grants you the valuable opportunity to exercise your voting rights. As the city's decisions can significantly impact the county, having a voice in local elections empowers you to shape the direction and policies that affect your community.

All these points can lead to major savings on your insurance for your home or business.

By joining the city of London, residents can benefit from cost savings, enhanced safety services, and active participation in the election process. It presents an opportunity for greater affordability, security, and having a say in local affairs.
