Crosswalk on Main Street/ 192 street project to be added to the city street system

Phillip Rawlings presented a written quote for a crosswalk with flashing signage at Seventh Street and Main Street, cost: $13,913.20. Once installed, the City will be responsible for all ongoing maintenance. Mr. Rawlings also referenced a set of maps and documentation from the state, reflecting streets requested to be accepted into the city street system (described as “one out of two is now completed,” and including back streets related to prior project planning). Councilperson House suggested placing this matter, including the financial implications, on the agenda for the upcoming budget meetings. It was noted that the city has already assumed responsibility for power on several traffic signals on 192.
